POPE: UKRAINIANS STILL SUFFERING FROM A "CRUEL WAR"

Pope Francis asks for ongoing prayers for the people of Ukraine, as the nearly six-month war with Russia continues.

Speaking to pilgrims gathered in the Paul VI Hall for the Wednesday General Audience, Pope Francis once again turned his thoughts to the people of Ukraine who, he said, "still suffer from this cruel war".

He also asked for prayers for the many migrants arriving at this time, and urged everyone to build peace in their families and society.

"I urge everyone to build unity and peace in the family, in the Church, and in society. It is not easy to be peacemakers, both in the family and in the Church, [and build] unity; but we have to do it, because it is important work."

On Sunday, Pope Francis had welcomed the departure from Ukraine's ports of the first shipload of grain, following the deal brokered by Turkey to allow the export of Ukrainian foodstuffs through the Black Sea, after nearly six months of blockade.

At the Angelus, the Holy Father said this step shows "that it is possible to dialogue and achieve concrete results, which benefit everyone" and, therefore, offers a sign of hope that a just and lasting peace can be found.
